

Pavement Engineering Services for Yum Restaurant Services Group

In 2005, Applied Pavement Technology, Inc. (APTech) was hired by Yum! Brands (which includes Taco Bell, Kentucky Fried Chicken, A&W, Long John Silver's, and Pizza Hut) to provide pavement evaluation and rehabilitation design services for twenty-four restaurant parking lots in the western United States. Parking lots are a vital part of the daily activities of employees, service vehicles, and delivery trucks, as well as an important part of a customer's safe, comfortable dining experience. As part of the effort to promote the functionality and aesthetic appeal of the Yum! Brands parking lot pavements, APTech visited individual restaurant parking lots, conducted distress surveys, marked repair locations, developed scopes of work, prepared bid documents, identified local contractors and secured bids, and oversaw construction activities.
